FBI Brings Evidence To May - Garsson Trial

AN FBI EXPERT tells the May-Garsson conspiracy trial jury in Washington, D. C., that he has concluded that three Cumberland Lumber Co., Cumberland, Ky., invoices—totaling $33,156.47—were typed in the Chicago office of Garsson's Erie Basin Metal Products Co. The FBI agent displays one of three huge photos prepared in the FBI's crime detection laboratory to back up the charge that the invoices were forged to cover up the bribes paid ex-Rep. A. J. May of Kentucky for influence to help the Garsson brothers with war contracts. (International Soundphoto)

New Constitution Puzzles Japanese People Somewhat

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO, May 3.—A new constitution became the basic law of Japan today but few Japanese have a clear idea of the vast changes it makes in their government.

The constitution, sponsored unofficially by General MacArthur, outlaws war and the military, grants extensive new rights to the people and makes the emperor a figurehead. Its inauguration will be marked by weeklong ceremonies ranging from sports events to lectures on the significance of the new document.

The instruction will be needed. The people know in a general way that individual rights have been granted them; that the old appointive house of peers has been eliminated, and that certain changes have been made in the status of the emperor.

But the people have little appreciation of the authority granted their representatives or of the great changes in governmental responsibility and judicial procedure—changes necessary to eliminate the oligarchical control which Japan's outlawed constitution permitted.

The full realization of constitutional government will depend upon how quickly the people grasp these more technical aspects of their new state. In the meantime, they are dependent upon the sincerity and honesty of politicians, most of whom are oldtime veterans with more loyalty to party than to constituents.

Few new leaders have arisen and none appears likely to emerge from the current diet, which will select a premier from among its own members after it convenes May 25.

The Socialists demand the premiership on the basis of their plurality in the lower house. The Conservatives are expected to use their combined majority in a stubborn battle to remain in power.

Illinois Phone Settlement May Help Settle Bell Tie-up

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The first tentative wage settlement between a Bell system company and an affiliate of the National Federation of Telephone Workers hinted a break today in the nationwide telephone strike.

Four sets of negotiations in the capital were still deadlocked, but there were these two big developments:

1. In Chicago leaders of three NFWU-affiliated unions accepted $4 from the Illinois Bell Telephone Co., subject to ratification by 16,000 members.

2. In Washington, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. made its first money offer to its 20,000 long-distance employees.

Though rejected by the American Union of Telephone Workers, the offer was a departure from the previous A. T. & T. position of offering to settle by arbitration but making no money proposals.

The offer was $2, $3, or $4, depending partly on the geographical locality. Thus it was not an across-the-board arrangement.

After the rejection, Government Conciliators Peter J. Manno and William N. Margolis kept the parties in session for hours last night and finally recessed at 12:40 a. m. until 2 p. m. today with both sides holding firm.

Developments Awaited
But in a joint statement Manno and Margolis said "everything is progressing very satisfactorily and we are looking for cheerful developments" this afternoon.

There were conflicting opinions as to whether a long lines wage agreement in Washington would furnish a pattern for washing up the whole rambling strike in the Bell system of A. T. & T.-controlled firms, now in its 27th day.

Union and company negotiators for Western Electric and Southwestern Bell—two important Bell system units—were called back into session in Washington today.

250 Prisoners Are Dispersed By Tear Gas

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kas., May 3.—Army authorities reported today they had subdued 250 of 800 prisoners who engaged in a night-long riot at the Fort Leavenworth disciplinary barracks after one prisoner was killed and seven others were injured.

The 250 inmates of one of two cell blocks involved, surrendered after Col. Graeme Parks, disciplinary barracks commandant issued an ultimatum over the loud speaker system telling the men that the army was in full control, and unless they gave up all air would be shut off and the cell blocks would be flooded with tear gas. No word had been received from prisoners in cell block 7, the other affected.

The riot was reported to have been the outgrowth of a recent order that white and negro prisoners should eat together in the same mess, and was described as a race riot within the prison.

The commanding officer told the men over the address system that white and negro inmates had been segregated at breakfast this morning and that this practice would be continued.

More than 200 tear gas shells and grenades had been lobbed into the cell blocks before Parks issued the ultimatum.

After Parks' broadcast on the speaker system, the men in cell block 6 sent a spokesman to tell a guard at the doorway that they were ready to surrender.

The men were ordered to come out in groups of five. They were brought into the rotunda, stripped and searched. They then were herded into another cell block which had been emptied and prepared for isolation of the rioting prisoners.

The rotunda was guarded by 100 troops armed with "billy clubs" and tear gas. Firemen had two firehoses set up ready to turn high pressure streams on the men if they showed signs of giving further trouble.

There was no information on whether there may have been more than the eight casualties originally reported.

Stomped To Death
Col. Parks identified the dead inmate as Dewey Coburn, a white man, 30, Mountain City, Tenn., and said he had been stomped to death.

Injured were a prisoner named Woodberry, stabbed in the lung with an ice-pick; Robert Lee Freeman, 31, Chattanooga, Tenn., head injury and bruises; E. C. Smith, 37, Baltimore, Md.; Henry Turner, 27, Columbus, Ga., fractured arm and numerous cuts; Paul H. Nelson, 25, Kansas City, Kas., cuts and abrasions on head; Peter C. Valenti, 25, Inglewood, N. J., abrasions on head and other injury the extent unknown, and Staff Sgt. Robert L. Lizer, 34, New Orleans.

Parks indicated there might be other dead. "There is a possibility we might find bodies on the inside."

Major Henry C. Triester, Jr., public information officer, said the outbreak was confined to cell blocks 7 and 8. He said the men had been locked in their cells all day Friday as punishment for the fracas at breakfast.

"We let them out to eat," he declared, and the disturbance started again.

He said 1,500 prisoners were in the disciplinary barracks, with about half participating in the riot.

He said the tear gas had little effect on the men at first. They have smashed all the windows and doors in the block and the gas is dissipating "about as fast as we fire it in." The men are "yelling and cheering," he declared.

The barracks are located in the heart of the Fort Leavenworth military reservation and contain men convicted by military court of serious crimes.

Major Triester said the beleaguered men had fashioned clubs from a wooden stairway which joined the upper and lower tier.

City Is Named Defendant In Traffic Damage Suit

The City of Salem is defendant in two damage actions totaling $2,800, filed in common pleas court at Lisbon Friday by William Rosser and his seven-year-old son, William, Jr.

The former asks $1,000 for medical expenses incurred and the latter $1,800 for injuries received last Jan. 7 when the child is alleged to have been struck by a city car driven by James Hassey, a city policeman. The petition charges Hassey carelessly and unlawfully operated the car without due regard to safety of children in a school zone.

YOUNGSTOWN, May 3.—A discarded hawkeye blade was the only clue Youngstown police had today in trying to track down the saboteurs who sawed an American Telephone & Telegraph Co. cable here Friday night.

'T. B.' Prevention Object of Mass X-ray Of 3,000 Shop Workers to Begin Monday

More than 3,000 Salem workers will be able to have free chest X-rays taken within the next two weeks when the mobile unit of the National X-ray survey visits nine industrial plants here.

This program, sponsored by the Columbiana County Public Health league, is being financed from proceeds of Christmas seal sales.

The unit will be at the Mullins plant on Monday and Tuesday and will return to Salem May 12-15 to X-ray employees of the Salem Engineering Co., the Electric Furnace Co., Deming Co., Gonda Engineering Co., C. B. Hunt and Son, Inc., Paxson Machine Co., Schnell Tool and Die Co., and the National Sanitary Co.

The service is voluntary and will be available to workers on all shifts. The X-ray is fast and may be taken without removal of clothing.

Backed by the Salem Manufacturers association, the X-ray service is designed to discover early cases of tuberculosis. When the disease is known to be present in the first stages it can be easily and effectively treated.

All X-rays are taken on miniature

With the new improved equipment, X-ray pictures of the lung require only a few seconds and can be taken with "clothes on." Group X-ray programs, to find unknown cases of tuberculosis while the disease is still in its early and most easily curable stage, are sponsored by tuberculosis associations from Christmas Seal funds.

films at the rate of 150 an hour. These will be interpreted by Dr. Lea Cobbs of Salem.

If X-rays show any suspicion of "T. B." heart, or spine disabilities, a confidential letter will be sent to the individual. This letter will recommend a retake of the X-ray on a large film for better diagnosis. Retakes will be made at Salem City hospital and also will be financed by the Public Health League.

In the last two years more than 11,000 chest X-rays have been taken in Columbiana county. Five per cent have returned for retakes and of those only 13 per cent had tuberculosis.

With the passing of the 8 mill levy for "T. B." in Columbiana county, hospitalization is now provided for cases discovered by chest X-rays.

This marks the first mass industrial checkup the health league has made in Salem although there have been several public X-ray programs, said Miss Lillian Schroeder, health league secretary.

High school juniors and seniors are X-rayed annually for signs of tuberculosis.

Those Awful Landlords

A majority of House members have gone on record that there is nothing criminal about having saved, or risked, enough money to be a landlord. They have gone even further and given landlords a chance to persuade city and county governments to lift rent controls.

If the proposed legislation containing this gesture of confidence in landlords as citizens of the United States also passes the Senate and isn't vetoed by Harry Truman, landlords able to pay exorbitant construction prices will be able to rent new housing units at correspondingly exorbitant rents. Furthermore, if a tenant wants a two-year lease and will take up to a 15 percent rent increase to get it, the government won't object, under the House bill.

In other words, those awful landlords finally are getting some direct relief in a situation which has left them holding the bag for price and profit control. Roofers, carpenters, plumbers, painters, electricians, window washers, bricklayers, all supplies and all services have gone up. Taxes have gone up. The income of many tenants have gone up. But landlords, for reasons which had more to do with politics than economics, had to be controlled. Under the House bill, they will still be subject to control, at least until the end of the year, but the control will be eased.

Landlords may be readmitted to full standing in price inflation eventually, if all goes well. Their traditional practice of charging what the traffic will bear is beginning to look pretty modest compared with what other Americans are charging.

Gunfire In the Dardanelles

Exchange of naval gun salutes by Turkish and United States warships in the Dardanelles on Friday made all current diplomacy seem secondary and ineffectual. The ceremony was a booming reminder that this 47-mile stretch of water—47 miles long and centuries deep—is probably greater than any other issues pending between the great powers.

It is, moreover, one of the few issues on which the United States can bring its power to bear. Since the time of Peter the Great, at the turn of the 18th century, Russia has tried to extend its influence southward through the Dardanelles into the Mediterranean basin. Wars and treaties after wars have been concerned with this ambition. In May 1947, there is the same issue—but a few new details.

The United States now has the primary naval power in the Mediterranean; Great Britain's impoverishment has caused it to withdraw. Along with primary naval power, the United States also has primary responsibility for the high policy which goes with naval power; hence, the Truman doctrine, which obligates the United States to support the sovereignty of Turkey and Greece. Russia's hope of controlling the Dardanelles has ebbed and flowed in ratio to the state of Turkish sovereignty. The Ottoman empire's break-up was high tide; development of the modern Turkish state was low tide. The guns that roared in the Hellespont on Friday were a signal that the modern Turkish state has found friends.

It's Raining

There's dissatisfaction with the weather. . . it can't seem to stop raining, can it? We are going to have a little more rain. What do you know, it's raining! Did you order this weather? This is fine weather for ducks. The rain will make the grass grow. . .

Is the weatherman mad at somebody? It's trying hard to be a nice day, but everything's against it. Is it wet enough for you? And I just had my hair curled! If this isn't an unprintable day. Do you think this will be good for the corn?

It has rained every day since Easter. This rain will slow up the plowing. Maybe it will be a nice day tomorrow. Pity the poor sailors on a night like this. Looks like a short summer. What happened to spring anyway? I'm sensitive to weather, you know, and this is getting me down. . .

Yes, we know, we know. The weather is getting you down. And if threadbare comments about it continue, the weather will have everybody down. It's raining. Nothing unusual about that. It has been raining for thousands of years—or is that just the way it seems?

The Stars Say

BY GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 4

Sunday's horoscope shows a rather static frame of mind, with the inclination toward the inert, stagnant and depressed, and a mental attitude confused and undependable.

It might be advisable to make this a day of rest, relaxation or spiritual contemplation, postponing all physical activities until more favorable auspices or more stimulating circumstances.

Those whose birthday it is may not be disposed to any great ambition or worthwhile objectives, since the energies, attitudes and disposition are stagnant, indifferent, or bogged down by a sense of frustration or limitation.

This may be owing to a depleted physical condition, sustained by a lackadaisical state of mentality. Caring for these and working along lines of least resistance would give desired benefit.

A child born on this day may require careful training and care lest inertia, indifference and a sense of frustration and futility undermine its usefulness in life.

For Monday, May 5

Monday's astrological forecast shows the prolongation of a static or inert state of affairs, with little to incite activity or live interest. It might be well to adhere to programs that would not put a heavy tax on the energies or mentality, since these are not up to a level of creative expression, nor to be relied upon. The outlook may be gloomy, spirits tense or apprehensive.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year in which it may be well to simplify programs and plans, limiting the energies and ambitions to the absolutely urgent, needful and concrete, in both private and business affairs.

The physical and spiritual urges may be depressed, tense or fearful, with a "what's-the-use" attitude, unless deep roots of philosophy inspire a more constructive trend of mind and emotions. This too shall pass away gives firm and optimistic foundation for gracious living.

A child born on this day may be little inclined for an active or practical career, being disposed to a studious, philosophic life, with introverted leanings.

If it takes all kinds of people to make a world, this one is certainly well made.

Flies travel at the rate of five feet a second, but it takes them all summer to leave you alone.

Guarding Your Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

SHOES are a necessity for civilized living. Few, if any of us would want to do without them and none of us could, under modern conditions. At the same time it is true that improper shoes have resulted in a great deal of discomfort and, at times, real suffering.

The right sort of shoes must be made in a way to protect the feet against injury. But they should not be so rigid as to prevent proper use of the foot.

A shoe should be waterproof but yet porous enough to permit air to get through. Shoes should be durable, easily repaired and easily available. It is better to have more than one pair of shoes so that they may be changed every other day.

Suitable Material

At present there does not seem to be any material which is as suitable for shoes as leather. However, there is some indication that synthetic materials may sooner or later be constructed which will have the same properties as leather and even improve upon leather.

According to Dr. Norman C. Lake of England, there are certain things about shoes upon which all experts agree. First, since the inner border of the undeformed foot is straight, the shoe along this border also should be straight.

Second, that some sort of heel is necessary except for certain kinds of slippers. In the average shoe for men the heel is about seven-eighths of an inch high. This height affords a good firm basis for walking and wear without upsetting the normal balance of the foot. It has been suggested that the female foot requires a higher heel. There would not seem to be any good basis for this belief, according to Dr. Lake.

Slight Disturbance

On the other hand a heel about one and one-half inches high produces slight, if any, disturbance in the normal working of the foot. If a heel is higher than this too much of the body weight is thrown on the front part of the foot, and this may cause certain disorders to develop affecting the front part of the foot.

In such instances too much of the weight is thrown on the heads of what are known as the metatarsal bones which are the bones just behind the toes. This part of the foot is not constructed to bear the body weight, and this may result in spreading of the metatarsals with the production of pain in the foot, and bunions.

The shoe should fit closely around the heel. The fit around the instep must also be snug and the shoe should be strongly constructed at this point. Attention to these few simple details about footwear will save us much foot trouble which plagues so many people today.

The Play For Power

Years ago there was more than one telephone company in town. That meant that people had to have more than one telephone in order to be able to reach all of the other people who had telephones. Either that or they had to get along with just calling the people who had their kind of telephone.

People didn't like that. Besides it was wasteful to have all those telephones, and the wires and cables and central offices standing side by side—some serving some customers and others serving others.

So people decided to have just one telephone company in town in order that they could call anybody else who had a telephone and do it more cheaply.

That was too much power to give to one company without any check on telephone rates or on the quality of the service, or on the earnings of the company. But the people already had decided to control these things in the public interest and they had given that power of control to their state governments.

That plan of control for the common good has been very effective for a good many years — telephone service is one of the few things that costs less than twenty-five years ago.

Why Not Arbitrate

Ohio Bell offered to extend the contracts until a settlement could be bargained.

IT WAS REFUSED.

Ohio Bell tried to get arbitration of wages — so that work and wages could go on.

THE STRIKE WAS CALLED ANYWAY.

Ohio Bell continues to offer arbitration. It is the quickest way to get people back to work and restore service.

WHY IS SUCH A FAIR PROPOSITION REFUSED?

NOW A NEW ELEMENT COMES INTO THE PICTURE

A National telephone union is trying to increase the cost of telephone service at the point of a weapon. That weapon is a national telephone strike which abandons all regard for service to the people.

Such power in the hands of a labor monopoly, now demonstrating its utter lack of regard for the public, is contrary to what people always have regarded as right.

So there is something fundamental and basic in this telephone strike that goes beyond just the question of wages. National bargaining and compulsory membership in the union (union shop) would perpetuate the power to destroy the public service and to force the cost of telephone service up without any regard to what people think is justified under the circumstances.

National unions and national wage patterns don't fit the telephone business and they don't fit in with the way that people think the business should be regulated in the public interest.

That is the reason why Ohio Bell proposes that the wage issues, behind which the national union movement and the demand for compulsory membership in the union are hidden, should be settled in Ohio to fit Ohio conditions.

Ohio Bell believes that its wages and working conditions are favorable—besides having had for many years seven holidays with pay, paid vacations, liberal sickness benefits and one of the very best of pension plans, the total cost of which is carried by the company.

THE UNION DEMANDS ARE ENORMOUS

In addition to the weekly wage increase which has been so freely publicized there are more than fifty other demands which would cost several times as much.

Arbitration of wages in Ohio is the answer to all of these problems — all except the creation of a labor monopoly with compulsory membership in the union and greater power over the telephone business than the people have given to the state itself—all except national bargaining which is part and parcel of the play for power.

KAISER-FRAZER

Production Record In The Short Amount Of Time They Have Been In Operation

The Customer Writes

Just a line or two to give you my opinion of your Frazer car.

I started out on a trip across the United States on February 8, 1947. I had 500 miles on my Frazer at that time.

I drove it at below zero weather for two days, then it warmed up in Florida and all the way across the country to California. I drove this car between 70 and 90 miles per hour, when roads permitted it, for 7000 miles. I drove it across all the deserts, including Death Valley, at 85 miles an hour for eight and nine hours a day with alcohol testing 10 below zero. The motor never heated above 170 degrees.

I drained oil at 2000 mile intervals and never used a drop.

There were absolutely no cars on the whole trip that would even attempt to stay with me. Everywhere I stopped, station attendants would praise the frame and under-construction of the car.

I think the Frazer overdrive is the greatest advancement in the motor industry in years for smooth, easy driving on the open highway. In conventional gear nothing could pass me on any mountain climb.

My wife and three children were with me. After averaging 420 miles a day for 17 straight days, none of us were travel fatigued. We traveled on some pretty bad roads, and the car rode the rough ones as easy as it did the smooth ones.

Because I have great faith in your car, my Frazer is at your disposal for any tests or check-ups you care to make on it.

"WOW" And Here They Go Again As Line Two Opens

Kaiser-Frazer's total of automobiles delivered surged ahead this week when over 1000 cars were shipped to dealers from Willow Run on April 11, 12, and 13. Special crews worked over the week-end to O. K. and ship the cars already off the final line.

At the same time the current issue of Automotive News disclosed that K-F had taken the lead over six other major automobile manufacturers with a 1947 production total of 21,989 cars built. This covers the period from January 1 through April 12. According to the plant scheduling department 33,740 Kaiser and Frazer automobiles have been built since production started less than nine months ago.

Additional good news for dealers came this week in the form of an announcement from Clay P. Bedford, vice president in charge of manufacturing, stating that the second chassis line is now in operation.

The new line differs from the original one in that it uses a combination of two types of conveyor systems. Assembly begins on a floor conveyor and continues on it to the "frame turnover" section. There the chassis is picked up by an overhead monorail conveyor and carried through the remaining production phases to the body drop.

The second final assembly line, acting up to now as an overflow line from number one, entered scheduled production with the second chassis line and will work in harmony with it. Both lines are set up to meet present and anticipated production requirements. The nucleus of experienced workers for the two new lines was drawn from line number one.

With the start of production on the new chassis and final assembly lines, K-F has concluded the biggest part of the major engineering developments on assembly lines scheduled for the present time. Automobiles are now being built on two lines throughout the plant.

However, even though twin assembly lines are virtually completed from an actual production viewpoint, Plant Engineering is continuing its program of necessary plant conversion. Conveyor systems are not fully completed. Present schedules call for the construction of additional conveyors, mainly for material and parts delivery and assembly line assisting. Construction work is continuing in the press pits.

The Frazer Manhattan, K-F's new luxury model, is now on the production line. First units of the model entered the paint section late last week. The sales department lists nearly 5000 orders on hand already against the anticipated production figure of 12,000 units of that model.

WILLOW RUN — Kaiser-Frazer has signed an agreement with the RFC and the WAA under which the automobile company has the option to extend its present lease of the Willow Run plant for 18 years up to Dec. 31, 1965.

The corporation has also leased the Willow Run spare parts building, according to an announcement issued by Henry J. Kaiser, chairman, and Joseph W. Frazer, president.

The terms of the original lease for Willow Run were from Nov. 1, 1945, to Dec. 31, 1950. A second option was arranged for five years and the agreement just announced adds an option for an additional 10 years.

The spare parts building, now housing the K-F experimental division, service training school and model service garage, has an area of 470,000 square feet. It is situated on 36 acres adjacent to the Willow Run-Detroit express highway and has been occupied by Kaiser-Frazer on a "telegram of intent" since April 1, 1946. The lease figure for this building is $200,000 annually.

Leasing of the additional building to Kaiser-Frazer brings the government a total rent of $1,050,000 in 1947 and 1,400,000 in 1948 and thereafter.

Kaiser-Frazer may take up its new 10-year option any time prior to Jan. 1, 1955, according to terms of the U. S. agreement.

The lease arrangements embrace the main manufacturing and assembly building of 2,650,000 square feet; additional balcony space with a total of 1,000,000 square feet, and the administration, commissary, power plant, training building and other structures. The airplane hangars and landing field are excluded.

The annual formal spring dinner of Xi Psi and Beta Psi chapters of Beta Sigma Phi sorority was an event of Thursday evening in the Lape hotel.

Centered with a yellow and lavender arrangement of daffodils, daisies, roses and sweetpeas, flanked with yellow candles in crystal holders, the table was lovely in appearance. Place cards were attached to novelty shell nut cups. The cards were ornamented with tiny shell flowers in various colors.

Miss Marguerite Vincent, president of the Beta Psi chapter, was toastmistress.

The program was as follows: "History of Beta Sigma Phi," Mrs. Martin Roth; "Toast to Our Exemplars," Mrs. Alden Gross, Jr.; "Toast to Our Sponsor and to Our Director," Mrs. Rex Hundertmark; "Toast to Our Future Beta Sigma Phi," Mrs. John Holzwarth; "A Message from The Founder of Beta Sigma Phi," Miss Mary Elizabeth O'Neil.

Mrs. John Morton of Washington, D. C., the former La Vaughn Simpson of Salem, was a guest and gave a short greeting to the group. She was the organizer and first director of the Salem chapter of the sorority.

The pledge ritual was given to Miss Elizabeth Dales and Mrs. Emmet Harroff.

Miss Mary Catherine Rothgeb, Miss Shirley Crawford, Miss Margaret Bryan and Mrs. Richard Lawrence received the ritual of jewels degree.

Mrs. James Alaback received the table centerpiece for the first prize in the Monte Carlo Whist games.

Solving Our Problems

Campaign Against Fear

By James Alexander Scott

This is the greatest movement of the human race. Fear is not bred of ignorance. It is the child of half knowledge. A little knowledge is a dangerous thing. What we don't know at all we are not afraid of; as a sheep is happy ignorant of the slaughter-house. What we half know scares us. Men used to be afraid of lightning; now they know it, and the motor man whistles as he regulates the power of ten thunderstorms. All along, humanity has been walking up to bugaboos and finding out they were absurd. Strange! Men have thought fear helped morality! They tortured, imprisoned, killed, to cure criminals. They beat children. They burned heretics. Gradually they saw their folly. They are learning that crime is essentially fear, the fear of the consequences of doing right, and that you cannot put out fire with kerosene; that is, you cannot cure the fear of doing right by the fear of punishment.

Business was once based on fear. Men thought the only way to get work done was by slaves and by keeping them frightened. The capitalist and laborer still appeal to fear. But little by little the utility of it is appearing. Employers and employees are learning to appeal to the free co-operation of each other. Perhaps the worst misfortune that can happen to a person is to be infested with germs of fear, to be a prey to the terrors of morbidity and doubt of self. Who can tell the mortal pain, shame, and self-torture of the innumerable victims of chronic fear? Frequently parents are responsible for this. A boy, for instance, develops some inborn trait of waywardness; he is untruthful, will not supply himself, is careless, disobedient, or persists in keeping bad company; the parent naturally tells him of his fault, and as it seems to do no good, drops into a constant practice of scolding. Over and over the boy is reminded that he is "bad" that he will never amount to anything, and so on. This finally filters in the child's subconsciousness and then the irretrievable damage is done; for when he comes to believe in his sub-mind that he is bad, he is bad. One of the recent discoveries in the art of healing is the therapeutic value of suggestion. That is to say, the physician by suggesting to the patient, particularly the patient suffering from nervous disorder, sane and helpful thoughts about himself, can work a cure better of tentimes than by the use of drugs. If the influence of good suggestion be so great, the influence of bad suggestion is even greater. Many a woman has been wrecked because her life was poisoned when she was a child by unceasing mental suggestion from her mother that she was naughty, wicked, unreliable or untruthful. Many a man is a weak failure in the struggles of mature life simply because the cult of failure was carefully instilled into his childish mind by his thoughtless parents. Dwell upon and encourage the good that is in your child. Ignore his defects as far as possible. Learn how to have the blind eye. Above all do not tell him he is wicked. Show him his faults—but never in public, but in sacred intimacy. Show him the consequences of wrong-doing; but enlist his aid in opposing him, that he is good, brave, strong and truthful. In after life this belief of yours in him will tone up his self-respect and give him strength in the hour of crisis. The cure for all fear is faith in God and in self.

125,000 TO SEE 73RD RUNNING OF KENTUCKY DERBY

No Favorite Noted Among Field of 14 Horses Entered in Race

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
(By Associated Press)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3.—The Derby madness that strikes this town on the first Saturday in May each year was somewhat more intense than ever today as some 125,000 race-mad people attempted to pick the winner among 14 three-year-old colts.

The main reason for the extraordinary confusion attending the 73rd and biggest of all Kentucky Derbies was the fact that there wasn't an outstanding favorite among the 14 horses that are due to parade to the post at 4:45 p. m. (CST) today for the 73rd edition of Col. Matt Winn's guessing game. The weather continued as a prime factor for speculation although the forecast called for fair and warmer today after a half week of rain that turned the Churchill Downs racing strip into a soupy mess as it has so often in the past.

Then there were a couple of horses that probably wouldn't have been mentioned at all if it wasn't for the "off track" factor. A series of preliminary races failed to produce anything but arguments as to which of a half dozen leading contenders might hit the jackpot. On top of that, you even have to consider the trainers and jockeys.

The one certainty today that was the largest crowd in all Derby history would jam the rambling wooden stands at Churchill Downs to capacity and a little more. The official estimate was that about 125,000 spectators would be present and the unofficial sources of information from the track's concessionaires, who said they'd print more than 100,000 programs, to the hotel men who have turned down thousands of would-be roomers despite the $25 a day tax that returned with the end of rent controls, agreed that the figure wasn't exaggerated.

As for the horses, a necessary but comparatively unimportant factor in the whole affair, it remained something of a question whether Phalanx, the Virginia-bred colt which looked so impressive in recent outings, or Jet Pilot, the mud-loving speedster, would attract more interest today. As a matter of fact no one would concede that any of the 14 entries didn't have a chance, not even Balheim, the one-time selling plater whose name hadn't even been mentioned until his name was dropped into the entry box yesterday.

Phalanx, jointly owned by C. V. Whitney and Virginia Abe Hewitt, continued to hold the favorite's role he assumed after the Wood Memo-

Quakers Victorious In Triangular Meet

Sweep Final Events; Fast 440 by Crawford is Surprise

Copping the mile relay and snaring all four places in the broad jump, Coach Fred Cope's Salem High track team finished strong to defeat Canton McKinley and Niles in a triangular meet at Reilly stadium Friday afternoon, rolling up 72½ points. Canton topped 60½ and Niles 18½ points.

The locals held only a ¾ point lead up to the last event—the broad jump—but their stellar entries in that department were the best in the meet. Previously, the Quakers had topped the mile relay to wipe out a small McKinley lead.

Cope was handed a few surprises during the meet in the unexpected performance of several of his athletes. Probably the most outstanding of these was Danny Crawford, who ran a very creditable 440 in 54.3 seconds in his first attempt at the distance.

In addition, Bob Payer came out of his discus throwing slump to heave the platter 131 feet on his last try to win the event.

"Mo" Mercer contributed his best broad jump of the year to nail third place in that event, while Yeager looked good taking second in the 440 behind Crawford.

Canton McKinley's ace sprinter, Clifford, lived up to his reputation by breezing the 100 yard dash in 19 flat and adding the 220 in 22.9 seconds. He also anchored the victorious Bulldog 880 relay squad.

Glen Thorne, although not running his fastest, managed to win both the mile and half mile by comfortable margins.

The Quakers won seven events, Canton six and Niles one. They appeared to be ready for their next test, the dual meet with Warren under the lights Tuesday night.

The results:

Track Events
120-yd high hurdles—Hamilton C won; T. Boone S 2nd; Bro C 3rd; Jensen S 4th Time: 15:8 sec.
100-yd dash—Clifford, C won; Scarnecchia, N 2nd; Ross, S 3rd; rial. But almost as highly regarded were the Kentucky-bred Faultless from Warren Wright's Calumet farm and Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's $41,000 beauty, Jet Pilot, who still has the experts talking about the race he won in the mud on Derby day of 1946.

To match Phalanx's victory in the Wood, Faultless ran off with Hulen's Flamingo stakes, the Blue Grass at Keeneland and this week's Derby trial. On Trust from the California barns of Earl Stice and sons, took the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby and Mrs. M. E. Whitney's pint-sized Bullet Proof literally ran away from bigger, stronger horses to win the Chesapeake at Havre de Grace last Saturday. Those three accounted for virtually all the year's important three-year-old races before the Derby.

JAPANESE

happened their clearest opinion in history at the April 25 election of representatives. They definitely demanded a change in present governmental policies. At the same time they elected Premier Shigeru Yoshida and his cabinet and kept their hold on conservatism.

The election underscored the people's desire for adequate controls to minimize their own personal economic troubles and showed growing political power of organized labor. But the people sharply rebuffed Communism, and with it markedly left wing labor.

In this expression of concrete opinion, the people showed progress toward constitutional government. General MacArthur, hailing the results, said the Japanese "voted for candidates of their choice freely and fearlessly."

Governor Herbert O. K.'s

Offer Roosevelt Papers
For Arabian Oil Probe

NEW YORK, May 3.—Earl R. Koons, law partner of Basil O'Connor, who is an executor of the Franklin D. Roosevelt estate, said today the executors would comply with a request by President Truman to make papers of the late President available to the Senate War Investigating committee.

The committee had asked for the papers in connection with an investigation into Arabian oil contracts. President Truman rejected a committee request that an investigator be permitted to search through the Roosevelt papers at Hyde Park but did request the executors to cooperate.

Koons said that "all papers and documents relative to the scope of the Senate War Investigating committee's Arabian oil investigation will be made available to the committee."
